

Weather Project using PowerPoint

Choose a location in which you want to research the weather. Watch the weather on television for ideas for backgrounds and graphics.

Research

To get weather information go to weather.msn.com and choose the Weather link. For one week record the following information:

- Date
- High temperature
- Low temperature
- Humidity level
- Wind speed

Instructions

Your presentation must include the following slides:

- First Slide – this should introduce yourself and your channel.
- Second slide – a daily forecast – must include date
- Third Slide – a table with the week's data
- Fourth Slide – a chart of the week's high temperatures
- Fifth Slide – a map of the United States with AutoShapes or graphics indicating weather patterns.

Design

1. You may use a slide design or design your own background. Be sure to use colors for background and text that complement each other.
2. Use fonts and font sizes that are easy to read.
3. Animate one or more objects on each slide. Carefully check the order of the animated objects.
4. Choose a slide transition for all slides in the presentation.
5. Use either automatic slide advancement with a fixed time or rehearse timings and set time for each slide.
6. You may add additional weather related slides as time permits.
